

DECKOS - PIGMENT AND PARADOX PRESENTS

MUTANT PIGS: SIGNALS ON THE ICE

CHAPTER FOUR - SACRIFICE THE CHICLETS

Before the WGS - Season One Illustrated Guide

You pay for what you sow.

Toughness learns responsibility.

The recovered footage reveals players smiling through missing teeth. The Mutant Pigs laugh, admire the sacrifice, and nearly mistake a consequence for a requirement. Mara stops ceremonial pliers before uncertainty can become preventable harm.

When a player falls near the unfinished wall, his fiercest rival abandons the bearing and protects him. Opposing herds carry the injured competitor away together.

The herds adopt their first penalty maxim: You pay for what you sow. Fighting earns the Five-Minute Grudge - time apart while the game continues. Chiclets becomes a symbol of courage, but sacrificing a player to the game is declared a failure.

MP-036 - TOUGH ENOUGH TO PROTECT

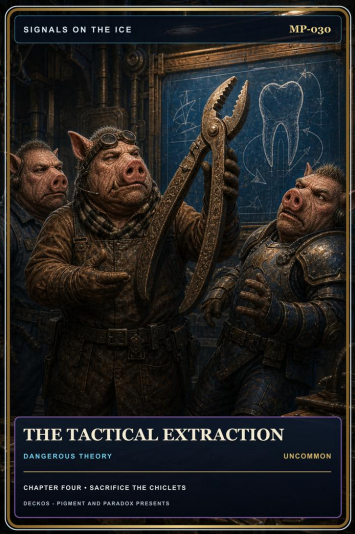

The smile, the mistake, and the dangerous fall

MP-028

MP-029

MP-030

MP-031

MP-032

Protection, penalties, and responsible courage

MP-033

MP-034

MP-035

MP-036